Weekly individual reflection report, Pa1414
HT, 2018

During the project you should make short notes about what is happening, what you are progressing and what you believe to be important events in your project. This is of great interest for the HoDs as well as good support for you when you are later writing your individual reflection report.
In order to get one feasible and common way in this communication, we urge you to use google docs.

Google Docs
- Create a file in google docs where you will continuously write summary of your weekly progress and reflections.
- Share the document with your HoD and course responsible.
- Upload the copy of the shared document link tot he course page on canvas.
The contents of this report is discussed in the next paragraph.

Contents of the report:
This should not be a long report... It should be short and concise but still provide the information below.
- Week number
- Sum of hours worked this week on the project
- Total of hours worked on the project so far, including the current week
- What you have been working on this week
- List of problems that you have experiences and which solutions you have found. If possible describe where/how you found solution.
- Reflections and what I have learned

Please note that the entries should be organized as a blog. One should be able to see all entries at the same time by scrolling on a page.

Example:

Week 39
This week: 8 hours
Total: 48 hours

Worked on:
This week I have focused on finalizing the login functionality and with authentication. It is working now and I have showed it to the customer.

Problems and solutions:
I got stack on session handling but then resolved with the help of …

Reflections and what I have learned:
I learned how session handling and authentication works with node.js. My reflection is that I should not sit stack too long before asking help.

Week 40
This week: 4 hours
Total: 52 hours

Worked on:
Fill in here…
Problems and solutions:
…
Reflections and what I have learned: